

Myanmar: New project to benefit 4 million pregnant women and young children

Idioma Undefined

The World Bank's Board of Executive Directors has approved a US$100 million credit from the International Development Association (IDA) to improve maternal, newborn and child health in Myanmar.

The Essential Health Services Access Project is expected to benefit about 4 million pregnant women and young children across all of Myanmar's 330 townships. The Project aims to increase coverage of critical health services that provide quality care, with a focus on the health of mothers, infants and children.

Read press release here [1]

@worldbankhealth

@worldbankasia

Photo courtesy: Group of women. Kaski Nepal, Simone D. McCourtie / World Bank

Post Date: Friday, 17 octubre, 2014

Source URL: <https://ncdalliance.org/es/news-events/news/myanmar-new-project-to-benefit-4-million-pregnant-women-and-young-children>

Enlaces

[1] <http://www.worldbank.org/en/news/press-release/2014/10/14/millions-of-mothers-and-children-in-myanmar-to?hootPostID=51ec051c963d96f10f01bfbf964a8a2a>